DOWN FROM THEIR PERCH.

The Vancouver Authorities Conclude to Remove Their Illegal Quarantine.

Several "Whereases" Set Forth in Order to Let Themselves Down Easily.

All the Quarantined Persons Released Except Mr. Spinks and Dr. Stoker.

VANCOUVER, July 28.—The steamer Comox arrived last night with the officials aboard. After consultation the authorities decided not to allow them to land, and an attempt to hold a council meeting failed. A special meeting of the aldermen was held at 10 this morning, when the following resolution was passed:—"Moved by Ald. Connon, seconded by Ald. Collins, whereas from the reports issued by the health officers it appears that the city of Victoria has now checked the spread of smallpox and apparently has it under control, and whereas the city of New Westminster has seen fit to raise the quarantine against the influx into that city of passengers from Victoria and thereby rendered it a matter of very great difficulty on the part of the city of Vancouver to effectually carry out the quarantine regulations hitherto enforced, if it was considered necessary to continue them, therefore be it resolved, that the quarantine enforced up to this date be released, and the medical health officer be instructed to strictly carry out the city health by-law and provincial health regulations, so far as may under the present circumstances be considered by them necessary for the preservation of the public health."

The passengers in quarantine were allowed to depart in peace, except an Englishman named Stoker, who tried yesterday to escape, knocking one of guards down, and J. M. Spinks, both of whom appeared with R. G. Mackay in the police court. The trial is now going on. Spinks and Mackay are being tried for contravention of the health act and Stoker for assault.

As soon as quarantine was raised word was sent to the steamer Comox, and the city officials came ashore. They were previously examined by Dr. Wilson, as well as the passengers in quarantine, who were given a clean bill of health.

The city will not appeal from Justice Crease's decision. The appeal from the writs of attachment, however, will be continued.

FORCED TO EMIGRATE.

A Westminster Fish Firm Will Leave Canada —Suspicious Bundle.

NEW WESTMINSTER, July 28.—On Tuesday at midnight, a man and woman threw a bundle into the river at the foot of Douglas street. The police were grappling last night to know what the bundle contained.

Robt. Manson, a white man, was fined $50 for supplying liquor to Annie, a klootchman.

Port & Winch will transfer their shipping business to the States on account of the recent fisheries regulations, which do not give them sufficient license to properly carry on their business.

ACCIDENTS AT NANAIMO.

A Miner Has Two Legs Broken—Crushed Beneath a Wheel. Etc.

NANAIMO, July 28.—The members of the Coast Seamen's Union deny all knowledge of the affair of compelling the sailors of the bark Richard III. to leave the vessel. Several additional arrests were made yesterday and a warrant has been issued for the arrest of P. Glynn, the secretary of the union here. The story told by the crew is generally discredited, and as the trial takes place this evening a little more light may be thrown upon the subject.

An accident occurred in No. 3 shaft yesterday afternoon, whereby Alex. McLellan was severely injured. Alex. was working in his stall when a lot of rock came down and crushed him beneath it, breaking both his legs. The injured man was speedily released and conveyed to the hospital, where Dr. Praeger was awaiting his arrival. The doctor attended to the injuries.

The twelve-year-old son of Mr. John Frazer, proprietor of the Oriental Hotel, met with an accident yesterday which may possibly result in the loss of a foot. The boy attempted to board one of the company's trucks, and in doing so he slipped and fell. One of his feet got under the wheel and was badly crushed. He was picked up and conveyed home. The doctor thinks he will have to take the foot off.

Joseph Smith, while employed at the saw mills yesterday gouged one of his fingers with a knife of one of the machines and had to have it amputated. Dr. McLeod performed the operation.

Some of the "boys" have been "carrying on" too far at the meetings of the Salvation Army, and it necessitated a few of them being brought into court. Capt. Massacar appeared for the Army and stated she did not want to press the charge if the men would promise to behave in future. The promise was given and the "boys" were dismissed with a caution.

The installation of Nanaimo Encampment, I.O.O.F., took place on Tuesday night.

The funeral of Mrs. Churchill took place yesterday and was attended by a large number of carriages and a procession of Black Diamond Lodge I.O. O. F.

TACOMA, July 26.—The first of the tea ships, the Alexandria, arrived today. She left Yokohama June 25, and brought 2,487,455 pounds of the new crop of tea.

A joint meeting of the members of the Chamber of Commerce and the Commercial Club was held this afternoon. Resolutions were unanimously adopted favoring the admission of Chinese merchants and pledging support to the mayor and authorities in protecting them should they come.

Seid Back, a wealthy Chinese merchant of Portland, is reported as saying in Portland that none of his countrymen will come here under any circumstances. They can do all the business they desire in Portland and could not be protected here from the fury of the lawless classes.

THE OAR.

RACING AT SARATOGA.

SARATOGA, July 26.—It was after 5 o'clock this afternoon when Referee Stimson decided that the lake surface was calm enough to allow the rowing races of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen to begin. When the water calmed down there was a little delay caused by the executive committee listening to protests against Edward Durnan, the Canadian oarsman, who is a cousin of Edward Hanlan. The committee decided to rule him out altogether, although the Canadian protested loudly. To-day's races on the lake showed a surprising lot of crack amateurs, and the heats so far as rowed were closely contested. Charles Courtney, Ellis Ward, Edward Hanlan and Henry Rogers were among the famous professionals who witnessed the races. All the heats set down in the programme for to-day were rowed except the senior fours, darkness preventing that. Each race was one and one-half miles with a turn. The winners to day were as follows: Senior singles—First heat, Edwin Hedley, Vesper boat club of Philadelphia; second heat, William Caffrey, of Crescent boat club of Boston; third heat, John J. Ryan, Sunnyside boat club of Toronto. Junior singles—James Hurley, of the Don rowing club, Toronto; second heat, Peter Lehaney, Albany rowing club; third heat, H. H. Cady, New York Manhattan club. Double sculls—First heat, Vesper boat club of Philadelphia; second heat, Catlin boat club of Chicago. It was decided that the first and second man in each heat should go to the finals. The senior four-oared heats are to be rowed at 10 to-morrow morning.

THEIR AUGUST REGATTA.

The preparations being made by the management of the James Bay Athletic Association for the regatta on August 20th, are vigorous, and meet with the approbation of the whole club. Thirty-two names have been secured of gentlemen belonging to the club who will participate in the four-oared races. The arrangement is that the four strokes select their own crews. The senior strokes are Messrs. D. Sullivan, G. F. Askew, A. Cameron and W. H. Pegram, and they have quite an array of talent from which to select their men for the contests. Any other members of the club whose names have not been taken by the boating committee will confer a favor by handing them in to the secretary before 8 p.m. next Saturday, as training commences next Monday, and changes in the formation of the crews are not desirable. The main events in the regatta are to be the four-oared races by four senior and junior crews; senior and junior single races and a swimming match, for all of which very handsome trophies will be offered.

THE GUN.

Otto Weiler won the Routledge cup in the competition at the Victoria Gun Club's grounds. The scores were O. Weiler, 21; H. N. Short, 19; W. Bickford, 18; R. Jackson, 18; A. Dallary, 17; W. White, 17; E. Grigg, 17. The possible was 25. W. Adams won a pair of opera glasses, making a score of seven out of ten. The following members will shoot for the Hamilton Powder Company's medal: O. Weiler, H. N. Short, R. Jackson, J. Henly and A. Dallary.

The Union Gun Club will have another shoot for the Hamilton Powder Company's medal on Saturday.

LACROSSE.

The match between the Westminster and Victoria teams at the Royal City on Saturday is the all absorbing topic in lacrosse circles. It no doubt will be a hard struggle and the winners will have to play good lacrosse. Unfortunately for the lacrosse team Geo. Tudhope has left the city to join the Victoria & Sidney Railway survey party and may not be able to participate in the game, and Frost may be obliged to take the flags, as Blain is slightly under the weather. The first twelve and a team picked from the remaining players of the club held their final practice this afternoon, which was witnessed by a large crowd of enthusiastic spectators.

The Heat in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 26.—The number of casualties by heat in this city surpasses by far all previous records. Besides the death of seventeen people from sunstroke, 88 have been taken to various hospitals or their homes prostrated by the intense heat. Of these several will die. The air blowing in from the prairie was like a blast from a furnace. The mercury got up to 96 by noon, and remained there till evening. Since dark it has cooled off but slightly. To add to the general discomfort some portions of the north and west sides were, during the hottest portion of the day, without water, the city mains being for a time unable to supply the tremendous demand put on them. Outdoor work has been largely suspended.

Ancient Monastery Burned.

VICTIMS OF A VOLCANO.

Success of the Expedition Against the St. Lawrence Whiskey Smugglers.

Norwegian Political Crisis — The Meeting of the British Parliament.

AMSTERDAM, July 28.—The Handelsaga publishes letters from Celebes, giving details of the recent eruption at the Great Sangir Island. The eruption commenced at 6 p.m., unheralded by the slightest seismic warning. Immense flames, smoke and masses of stone suddenly burst from the volcanoes. Stones fell all over the island, killing hundreds of natives who were busy in the fields. Those who succeeded in reaching the supposed shelter of their homes found no refuge, many of the houses having been crushed beneath the weight of falling stones and roofs having collapsed under the weight of ashes, burying the inmates, in many instances whole families. Streams of lava flowed with frightful rapidity down the sloughs from the mountains. It is estimated over 6000 persons have perished on the slopes of the mountain, and many hundred more in the lowlands, but the exact loss of life has not yet been made known. The island is now threatened with famine, the crops having been destroyed. In many parts of the island the wells became dry. The Dutch authorities are doing the best they can to alleviate the distress.

The Whisky Smugglers.

OTTAWA, July 28.—The assault upon contrabrand whiskey that has been in progress in the Gulf of St. Lawrence during the last few days has come to a successful conclusion, and the military forces, two officers, sixty men and one gun, have returned from their expedition with Bouchard the smuggler under arrest. This contraband trade has been allowed by all governments for years and years to proceed unmolested. Everybody knew that the importation of whiskey by the way of the French Islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon was regularly conducted. The "free traders," as the smugglers are designated, were backed by men of capital and position. It was their task to sail to the French group off the coast of New Foundland and there take on board the dregs from the Boston distelleries. This deadly stuff they carried down the gulf, distributing it among the poor fishing villages on either shore and such proportions as were not saleable below Quebec were reserved for Quebec itself. But special opportunities for its carriage into town had to be secured and while awaiting a chance to land it the liquor was usually concealed in a quiet reservoir on the Isle Aux Coadres. Laminerve says: "The whole population nearly is in sympathy with the smugglers and in most cases are prepared to defend them with arms. Stories are told to glorify the bold outlaws. In the villages it is regarded as an honor to a parish to possess any of those unscrupulous free traders."

Davitt and Labor Members.

DUBLIN, July 27.—In addressing a meeting here to-day, Michael Davitt said that the Nationalists were in reality labor members of parliament. In Ireland they had secured the greatest triumph in the history of the labor world, and they were now ready and willing to help the labor party of Great Britain to obtain similar concessions from the Tory classes. Mr. Davitt's words were cheered. They were apparently intended to indicate plainly to the labor members chosen at the last elections, that the Nationalists would support the labor programme, if by so doing they could make sure of the labor members to vote, through thick and thin, for home rule.

Twenty Men Injured.

PITTSBURG, July 28—The train passed through here this morning, carrying 56 men from Cincinnati to work in the Carnegie mills at Homestead. Before they reached their destination, however, a riot occurred. The men had not been told their destination was Homestead and when the discovery was made a break was made to get away. The guards charged the men and attempted to prevent them making their escape, and a riot ensued in which 20 men were more or less injured.

Cabinet Crisis in Norway.

CHRISTIANA, July 28 —At the meeting of the Storthing it was decided to present an address to the members of the cabinet who recently tendered their resignations owing to the refusal of the king to sanction the establishment of separate Norwegian consulates, requesting them to remain in office and postpone indefinitely the settlement of the consulate question. If this solution of the difficulty is accepted by the king the crisis is considered at an end.

A Lottery Proposed.

PARIS, July 28.—The Franco-Russian relief committee has requested Premier Loubet to try his influence with the banks to assist in the issue of lottery bonds, enabling the committee to raise 20,000,000 francs for the relief of the distress in Russia. Loubet promised to co-operate and expressed a wish that a similar plan be adopted to relieve distress in France.

The Treatment of Iams.

PITTSBURG, July 28.—Private Secretary Tate says more communications have been received by the governor referring to the treatment of private Iams than during the progress of the Homestead and coke region troubles. The correspondence is generally understood to condemn the course of Col. Streator and some ask his removal from the National Guard. Many letters are from women, and also roundly denounce the act of tying Iams up by the thumbs.

The Parnellites.

DUBLIN, July 28.—The prominent members of the Parnellite party were present at a meeting of the Irish National League to-day, and a number of addresses were made. Edmund Lamy said the Parnellites who were returned to the House of Commons in the late elections would not go to Parliament as captious critics of any of the home rule schemes produced by Gladstone. They desired to give him fair play, but no more than fair play. Edward Harrington said the Parnellites were defeated in the recent campaign by the forces of conspiracy and lying intrigue. A promising thing for them however, was that they had the support of the young men of the country. Wm. Redmond held that the English must be compelled to concede Home Rule to Ireland.

Want a Full Attendance.

LONDON, July 28.—The Conservative whips are urging on members of the party the necessity for a full attendance at the opening of Parliament on August 4. The circulars usually issued by Salisbury to the Lords and by Balfour to the Commons prior to the opening of the session, have been dispensed with.

Anarchists Sentenced.

BRUSSELS, July 28.—The trial of the Anarchists at Lieb was concluded today with a verdict of guilty. Noninceau, the leader, was sentenced to 25 years penal servitude, Wolfe and Beaujean to 20 years each, four others to 15 years, and nine to shorter terms.

Mount Etna Eruptions.

CATANIA, July 28.—There has been a renewal of violence in the eruption of Mount Etna. Incessant rumblings are accompanied by showers of ashes. An earthquake was felt to-day at Mino, thirty-seven miles south of here.

A Liberal Loss.

LONDON, July 28.—By a recount Thos. Southerland, Liberal-Unionist, has been awarded the seat in Greenock. This reduces Gladstone's majority by two votes.

Farrer's Retirement.

OTTAWA, July 28.—There is much talk here over Farrer leaving the Toronto Globe. Mowat was the means of his removal.

Four Men Killed.

GAYLOR, Mich., July 28.—The boiler of the lumber mill blew up this morning; four men were instantly killed and several injured.

FUNERAL OF HON. MR. ROBSON.

Impressive Services—Large Attendance of Friends of Deceased.

The last solemn honors were paid the memory of the late Hon. John Robson this afternoon, when his friends and relatives followed his remains to their last home in Ross Bay cemetery. According to the wish of the family the ceremonies were of the quietest description, and totally devoid of pomp and ostentation. Under the experienced direction of Mr. Chas. Hayward and his efficient staff, all the arrangements were carried out in a thorough and satisfactory manner. Friends of the deceased were in attendance from all parts of the province, Westminster, the former home of the Premier, being especially well represented. Among those noted from that city were Mr. and Mrs. David Robson, Mr. Charles Robson, Rev. Ebenezer Robson, brothers of the deceased; Mr. T. R. Pearson, C. G. Major and Mayor Townsend. The Provincial Legislature was represented by Premier Davie, Hon. J. H. Turner, Hon. C. E. Pooley, Hon. D. W. Higgins, Mayor Beaven, Dr. Milne.

The service at the house was brief and the funeral cortege then set out for St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Before the casket was wheeled in Rev. Mr. Macleod, the pastor, and Rev. J. H. White, took seats on the platform, and as the pall-bearers preceding the casket filed down the aisles Organist Burnett played Handel's dead march, while the entire congregation rose and stood waiting until Rev. Mr. Macleod began prayer. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Hon. C.E.Pooley, Hon. D. W. Higgins, Mr. McConnon and Mr. Pope; Mr. Finlaison, Dr. Powell, Hon. T. Davie and Hon. J. H. Turner. Following the casket came Mr. Joseph Hunter, M.P.P., with Mrs. John Robson, Rev. E. Robson, Messrs. David and Charles Robson, C. G. Major, Mayors Beaven and Townsend, Mrs. Hunter, Miss Lizars and friends of the family. Chief Justice Sir M. B. Begbie, Mr. Justice Crease and Mr. Justice Walkem were among the large audience; the bar, the ministry and the professions generally were well represented and nearly all the prominent men in the city thronged the church. The casket was heavily loaded with beautiful floral offerings, wreaths, crosses, etc. After prayer the hymn "My God, my Father, while I stray" was sung by all to A. H. D, Troyte's chant. The address was brief, and after the hymn "Asleep in Jesus" had been sung the casket was brought farth, the organist playing most feelingly Mendelssohn's marche funebre. The following of mourners was very large, and also the crowd at the cemetery.

Burns in Bohemian.

Burns in Bohemian has a curious sound, but, no less an enterprise, according to the Atheneum, has been undertaken by Professor J. D. Sladek, the editor of the Prague newspaper Lumir, than a translation of some 150 of the songs and ballads of Burns in Czech. This version is shortly to be published by the Royal Academy of Science and Letters in Prague. In every instance the Bohemian translator has preserved the metrical form of the original, an extraordinary feat of skill and practice.—London Daily News.

THE CITY FATHERS

Receive Ample Evidence that Dr. Wade's Report Was Not in Accordance with Facts.

Letters from Drs. Milne, Crompton and Fraser Regarding the Albert Head Station.

The Action of Dr. Wade and the Government Severely Criticised by the Aldermen.

The city council met in regular session yesterday evening. There were present Mayor Beaven, presiding, and Aldermen Humber, McKillican, Styles, Hall, Baker, Bragg, Munn and Lovell.

By way of beginning the Mayor announced that he had received a telegraphic message from Mayor Sparling of Seattle, stating that the quarantine against the city of Victoria had been raised. The announcement was received with expressions of satisfaction.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From F. J. Claxton, referring to the prompt manner in which the fire brigade extinguished the fire at M. S. Reid's place on Saturday night, and asking that an alarm box, a hydrant and an electric light be placed at the corner of Fernwood road and Pandora avenue. Referred to the fire wardens.

The Mayor stated that he had witnessed the work of the chemical engine and he was highly pleased with the manner in which it had extinguished fire. He thought it was one of the best investments the city had made of late; he also thought it was an opportune time to ask the underwriters to reduce insurance rates.

Aldermen McKillican, Hall and Humber agreed with the Mayor.

Ald. Munn said he had spoken to the secretary of the underwriters and was informed that Victoria enjoyed the lowest rate of insurance of any city on the Pacific coast. He did not think it probable a lower rate could be secured.

The following letter from Dr. Crompton, was read by the clerk:

To His Worship the Mayor and Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Having resigned my position under you since the 8th inst., it becomes my duty to submit a brief report as to affairs at Albert Head Quarantine Station, and more especially so as I am of opinion that the report recently made by Dr. Wade was misleading. I have visited the station six times. At the time of my first visit there were 18 patients, two having previously died; one of those who had died the previous night being still unburied, I therefore gave instructions for his immediate interment, which were duly carried out. I may here state that I believe the interment in every case to have been decently and efficiently carried out. I found everything working satisfactorily excepting for some misunderstanding as to who was the recognized head. Complaints were also made as to the quality of water supplied. No other complaints of any kind were made and I certainly thought that everything was satisfactory. The quarters provided for the patients were excellent. All the nurses slept under canvas. I found two of them experienced in the nursing of smallpox cases. The supply of food and other necessaries was ample, orders sent in one day being delivered the next, a wagon making daily trips.

On my next visit I received some complaints as to former drunkenness, and as affecting the character of a certain woman who had been admitted to nurse her husband. After questioning each patient and nurse separately and alone I came to the conclusion that the whole trouble was caused by one man wrongfully assuming command, and to the admitting of whiskey. I should here state that I myself have seen no sign of drunkenness and feel confident that since my first visit no alcoholic liquor in any shape has entered the station. I at once reported the state of affairs to Dr. Milne, advising the removal of a man whom I looked upon as the cause of all the dissentions. This was immediately done. Since then everything has worked harmoniously.

On Dr. Wade's visiting the station everything was in good order and working satisfactorily to all concerned. My last visit was made on the 23rd inst. I found three ambulances waiting at the station and was informed that they had come with orders to remove eight of the patients. I had never been consulted or informed of this proceeding and I regard it as totally unjustifiable, and maintain that the removal of those patients in the state they were in was a gratuitous danger to the public, and the turning loose of their four nurses the same evening at Ross Bay among 80 odd people, some of whom had never before been exposed to infection and nearly 20 per cent. of whom had not been successfully vaccinated was a proceeding deserving the severest censure.

Yours obediently,
ERNEST CROMPTON.

Ald. Lovell said it was a source of satisfaction to receive this letter. This together with other evidence, such as the letter of Chas. H. Tite published in the TIMES, showed that Dr. Wade's report was misleading, and that he made it at the direction of his masters.

On motion of Ald. Hall the letter was received and the clerk instructed to send a copy of it to the Attorney-General.

The following letters were also received from Dr. Milne and Dr. Fraser:

VICTORIA, B.C., July 27, 1892.

To His Worship the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

GENTLEMEN,—At your request, I hereby reply to the statements made by Dr. Wade in reference to the quarantine station at Albert Head.

I might state, at the outset, the way in which Dr. Wade was sent down to the station. Owing to the fact that friends of the sick men sending articles to quarantine, which were not in accord with our orders, I considered it necessary to have a police officer stationed there, so that this might be put a stop to.

I casually asked Officer McNeill, of the Provincial police, if he knew of a man suitable, at the same time defining his duties and the reasons for wanting such an officer. But my queries of that officer brought me no assistance, but quite the reverse; for it is evident, by what took place next morning, the Attorney-General thought that there was something for him to investigate, and, bright and early, Dr. Wade was dispatched to Albert Head to learn what could be found against its management. I point out to you this fact to show that whenever I have expected assistance during this epidemic from the Provincial police or the Attorney-General, it has been looked for in vain, but in return have received nothing but fault-finding and obstruction.

However, in this instance, although outside of the city limits, Superintendent Sheppard found a suitable officer, who was sworn in as a constable and sent to the quarantine station. I considered such an officer necessary, in order to prevent outsiders sending articles which were contrary to the order of the medical attendant; and to do other duties which might be considered necessary. He arrived the next morning after I had the conversation with Provincial Officer McNeill, but not before Dr. Wade. On the same morning I dispatched the city cab to remove one named Harrison to the Jubilee grounds, and he was a nurse and took charge generally, but for various reasons given by Dr. Crompton, we considered it best to take him away. The chief reason was that he was too dictatorial and overbearing in his manner to the other attendants. Those living at the station were rather diffident in making known their views or complaints to the doctor; but as soon as they were made known I had him removed at once in order that matters might run more smoothly.

As to the charges made, the nurses sent down were the best we could find, and from what I can learn from Mr. Tite, who is a practical nurse, they all did their part very well. Mr. Blake is an old nurse and attended smallpox cases before for the city. Whether it be a matter of nursing smallpox or any other disease, if they follow the instructions of the medical attendant, that is about all that is necessary, although two or three of the nurses had attended smallpox before, and were quite competent to instruct the others. There were several private nurses at the station, furnished by the friends of the sick, and there were two women acting as nurses as well; they went down to nurse their husbands.

I consider that there was a sufficient number of nurses at the station, and perhaps a smaller number might have done.

As regards Joe Harrison, who was removed from the station and is now nursing at the Jubilee, it was done for reasons already stated, and that he took too much responsibility and made it unpleasant for the other attendants. He was removed before Dr. Wade arrived at the quarantine station.

Regarding the woman who is said to have occupied a tent with Harrison and Tite, I find that this statement is not in accordance with the facts. The woman was sent down with her husband to nurse him at her own request; they had a tent given them for their own use, and I believe that she attended to him faithfully.

As for furnishing the kitchen, it was reported to the sanitary officer that a new and larger stove would be better than the one they had. This was also purchased before the report to the Attorney-General was made.

The number of visits made by Dr. Fraser were four and not two as reported by Dr. Wade. His instructions from me were to make as many visits and as often as he thought necessary,

The statement in the report that no medicine was sent there until three or four days ago is utterly untrue, as medicine was sent down with the first patients, and the medical attendants ordered to give them medicine as they required to do so.

On enquiry of Mr. Bailey, there was a case of whiskey sent down with the other stores. I was not aware of this until after it was sent. Although stimulants were required, it would have been better to have sent it in smaller quantities. After hearing the explanations of the nurse, Mr. Tite, and the use it was put to, I do not think there was too much sent.

There were some stimulants sent in by friends, one case, I understand, to the station. When it became known to me I strictly prohibited any more passing into the station without the order of the medical man in attendance, and it was chiefly on this account that I had a police officer placed at the entrance to the grounds.

To show you how particular I was in reference to the supply of liquor, when in the first week of the quarantine at Albert Head, at the instance of Dr. Fraser (who thought some stimulants were necessary), I ordered from Messrs. Fell & Co. two bottles of brandy, which were delivered at my office. I then gave them to Dr. Fraser, who took them down in his own buggy with a supply of medicine, with instructions to place it in the hands of the nurse in charge, at the same time instructing him how it should be used.

As regards the supplies, they have been attended to regularly. When the order was received by the sanitary officer, Mr. Bailey, it was attended to promptly, and, in my opinion, they had enough and to spare of all the necessaries to allow them to live well.

Alderman McKillican can better explain to you the difficulties about getting a boat to supply the station with water. This could not be procured, and water was supplied by sending it down in barrels. It may have been tainted by keeping it in barrels, but the supply was sent as frequently as possible, and whenever it was ordered.

Fresh milk was sent daily for a time, but as it was found that it did not keep well, condensed milk was substituted.

The sanitary officer, Mr. Bailey, sent

A British Army Scheme.

LONDON, July 27.—The Morning Leader exposes the latest scheme of the Government to obtain recruits for the army. In view of the reluctance of desirable young men to volunteer for the service, an order has been issued requiring all boys who apply for the place of telegraph messengers to agree to join the army at the expiration of their term in the messenger service. The paper calls attention to the immense importation of boys into the ranks of the army and the increasing difficulty of obtaining recruits, owing to the smallness of the pay; the poor chance of promotion for those without influential friends, and the chilling manner in which soldiers are treated in the places where they ought to be welcome. The Leader also condemns the Government for thus taking advantage of thirteen-year-old boys by compelling, as a condition of employment, to bind themselves to service for which they have no desire, and by inveigling many of them into signing articles of the real meaning of which, so far as the promise of the army service is concerned, they are probably ignorant.

THE BOARD OF ALDERMEN

down tents, bedding, mattresses and clothing several times, and no pains were spared in filling the orders promptly on the day they were received.

As to the condition of the wards at the Albert Head station, I consider them as good as any hospital wards in the city, and with a slight improvement in regard to the closets, they are all that could be desired.

The disposal of the dead is referred to in the other letter accompanying this, and you will notice that they were promptly interred, and the complaints in this particular, like the majority of Dr. Wade's report, were merely made on hearsay report or founded on imagination.

Accompanying this you will find letters from Drs. Fraser and Crompton, and one also from Mr. Tite, who was lately a nurse at the Albert Head station.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen,
Your obedient servant,
G. L. MILNE, M.D.

To the Mayor and City Council:

GENTLEMEN,—Permit me to correct one of the statements in Dr. Wade's report. I visited the Albert Head station four times, instead of twice, as stated by Dr. Wade. On my return from each visit I reported in writing to Dr. Milne the condition of each patient, the medicines, clothing, utensils, etc., I thought the station was in need of. At each of my visits I asked each patient if he had any complaints or requests to make. None of the patients made any complaints to me. I did not think it always advisable to grant the requests of all the patients or nurses. Considering the distance of the station from the city, and the fact that no physician was permanently in the station, all the medicines that were safe to be administered by the nurses were provided. Dr. Milne gave me on one of my visits two bottles of stimulants from his own office. These I gave to Mr. Poole, the keeper of the station, to be dealt out as required. I believe that some persons in the city sent out stimulants to one of the patients. At my next visit after this incident I ordered that anything sent to the patients by their friends should pass through the hands of the keeper or head nurse. I may repeat that I heard no complaints of the character of the food or water supplied. The convalescent patients had plenty of wholesome, nourishing food. In my opinion none of the patients suffered from lack of medical attendance, medicines, suitable diet or proper nursing.

I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your most obedient servant,
R. L. FRASER, M.D.

Ald. Lovell remarked that this was further evidence corroborative of the character of Dr. Wade's report.

The Mayor suggested that Dr. Wade should be called on to prove or take back what he had said.

Ald. Lovell suggested that the council pass a vote of censure on Dr. Wade, and asked his worship if Dr. Wade had had any conversation with him. Receiving a negative answer, he said, if Dr. Wade had any the instincts of a man he would at least have conferred with the chief magistrate of the city in assuming the office of local health officer.

Ald. Humber suggested that Dr. Wade must have written his report on hearsay and was confident he would acknowledge his wrong. Everyone knew Dr. Milne was a good doctor and a gentleman, and the letter would not injure him.

Ald. Hall spoke very warmly on the subject. The action of Dr. Wade in censuring the sanitary committee after the manner in which they had done their duty since the outbreak of smallpox, was scandalous. The citizens, he thought, should pass a vote of censure upon him. The action of the government in taking the work out of the city's hands he also characterized as disgraceful.

Ald. McKillican suggested that the Attorney-General should be asked to investigate the matter as far as the charges made by Dr. Wade were concerned.

Ald. Munn did not think the Attorney-General would be inclined to act in this direction, and a Royal Commission was not wanted. The medical council, he thought, might straighten out the matter.

Ald. Lovell said it was a case of "Like master, like man," and Dr. Wade only reported to suit his master. He had acted in an ungentlemanly and extraordinary manner since his services had been forced on the city and he moved that an action for slander be instituted against Dr. Wade.

Ald. Baker thought it would be wise to let the doctors fight their own battles.

Ald. Hall, in seconding Ald. Lovell's motion, said it was a disgrace when the city had to pay the bills of the smallpox epidemic that such a man as Dr. Wade should be fastened on them by the Government, especially when Dr. Milne was doing his duty in a manner which was highly commendable.

Ald. Humber thought the reports of such men as Dr. Wade would hurt nobody. The letters before the council proved that Dr. Milne and the sanitary committee had done their duty.

Ald. Styles counselled stamping out the disease of smallpox and then settling differences afterwards. There was a new case not a stone's throw from where they were sitting, and he asked whose fault that was.

Ald. Bragg thought Dr. Wade had used bad judgment in reporting as he did, but thought he should be given a chance to apologize. Dr. Milne and the sanitary committee had been handicapped, and Dr. Davie and the Government could do no better with all their vaunted ability.

Ald. Munn advised Ald. Lovell to withdraw his motion, as he thought there was nothing to be gained by it.

Ald. Lovell finally withdrew his motion, at the same time taking occasion to state that Dr. Wade acted not like a man but like a sneak. Such slander and mischief making would not help to stamp out the disease. The whole treatment of the clique of which Dr. Wade was the tool was most disgraceful and discourteous, to say the least.

A letter from Chas. H. Tite, which has already appeared in the TIMES, was also read. This together with the others were received and copies ordered to be sent to the Attorney-General.

From John Grant and other residents of Stanley avenue, thanking the city for the promptness in which it had provided water service on that street, and asking for sidewalks. Referred to the street committee to report.

Thos. Jelts asked the council to remove a Chinese piggery on the Cedar Hill road, and also asking that steps be taken to enquire into the Chinese methods of raising vegetables. Referred to the chief of police to abate the nuisance complained of.

From residents of Amphion and Fernwood roads, asking for water service. Referred to the water committee.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORTS.

The finance committee reported, recommending the payment of accounts amounting to $517.70. Report received and accounts ordered to be paid. The action of the committee in paying a banking account of $8.43 was confirmed, and on recommendation the sum of $1500 was placed at the committee's disposal for sanitary purposes. An account of $282.32 in the suit of Tuck vs. the city was also ordered to be paid

WHAT'S TO BE DONE.

A report of the street committee regarding action to be taken with reference to the drainage improvements asked for by Major Dupont, was not considered, as it recommended an expenditure of money from the fund already exhausted.

Ald Styles and Ald. Baker were confident the committee had been authorized to go on with the work at a meeting held a fortnight ago; and pointed out the necessity for the work being done, and also the difficulties that had to be overcome.

MOTIONS.

Ald. Lovell asked leave to introduce a by-law to repeal certain by-laws and parts of by-laws. Leave granted.

Leave was also granted the same alderman to introduce a by-law to raise money by loan to place certain surface drains in order.

Leave was granted Ald. McKillican to introduce a by-law to raise $50,000 for purposes of the board of health, and also a by-law to raise a sum of money to provide a site and for the erection and maintenance of a municipal hospital.

BY-LAWS.

On motion of Ald. Styles the by-law to amend the street grades by-law was finally passed.

The Council then went into committee of the whole to consider the by-law to amend the market by-law.

After some discussion of sections 3 and 4 regarding fees and the weight of bread, during which Ald. Humber said the blooming market was a dead letter, and suggested that the building be disposed of for $110,000, and "Brother" Humber's tum-tum was commented on by Ald. McKilican, the committee rose and reported the by-law complete, and it was passed by the Council.

Ald Styles asked for information regarding the giving way of the sewer pipes on Johnson and Store streets.

Ald. Lovell said it was a mystery which the engineers could not explain and threw suspicion upon the whole work. A report, he said, would be submitted shortly.

The Council then adjourned to meet again Friday evening.

A BY-LAW

In Aid of the Victoria and Sidney Railway Company.

WHEREAS, under and by virtue of an Act of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of British Columbia passed at the last session, intituled, "The Victoria & Sidney Railway Act, 1892," a company was incorporated with power to lay out, construct, maintain and operate a line of railway from some convenient and accessible point within the City of Victoria by the most feasible and available engineering route to the Townsite of Sidney in the District of North Saanich.

AND WHEREAS, under and by virtue of another Act of the said Legislature passed at the last session thereof, intituled, "The Victoria & Sidney Railway Subsidy Act, 1892," power was taken by the Government of British Columbia to guarantee the payment of interest, until maturity, at two per cent. per annum on bonds of the said railway company, issued to an amount not exceeding $300,000, or its equivalent in sterling money, the principal of such bonds to be payable not later than 25 years from their date.

AND WHEREAS, under and by virtue of section 104, subsections, 2, 3 and 4 of the Municipal Act, 1892, the Council in every municipality is authorized from time to time to make by-laws, among other things for endorsing and guaranteeing the payment of any debentures or interest on any debentures to be issued by any railway or tramway company, constructed or proposed to be constructed, either wholly within the limits or partly within the limits and partly without, for the money by them borrowed, and for assessing and levying, from time to time, upon the whole rateable property of the Municipality a sum sufficient to discharge the debt or engagements so contracted.

AND WHEREAS the said Railway Company have applied to the Corporation of the City of Victoria for a guarantee of payment of interest on certain of the bonds of the said Company upon the railway proposed to be constructed by the said Company, by virtue of the said charter, to the amount of three per cent. on the sum of $300,000, for a period of 25 years.

AND WHEREAS, under and by virtue of the foregoing recited Act, intituled the "Victoria and Sidney Railway Subsidy Act, 1892," provision is made in clause 2 thereof that in case, at any time, an agreement is entered into by the Company with the Corporation of the City of Victoria for the furnishing by the said Corporation of a guarantee of payment of interest to a further amount of two or more per cent. on the bonds of the Company, up to not more than $300,000, the Government may make such arrangements for permitting the said Corporation to share any security taken by them for advances hereunder, and such provisions as to the manner of holding the same as to them may seem fit.

AND WHEREAS the said Company was thereby empowered to charge its undertaking and its tolls and property, real and personal, with the repayment of all the moneys paid by the Provincial Government in respect of the guarantee thereby authorized second and subject only to the charge given in favor of the bondholders under the Company's Act of Incorporation, and with further power to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to enter into all agreements which might be necessary for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the said Act.

AND WHEREAS it is desirable that a guarantee of payment of interest on bonds by the said Corporation should be made, and an agreement to that effect entered into by the said Corporation with the said Company, and that an arrangement should be made by the said Corporation with the said Government for permission to the said Corporation to share any security taken by the said Government for advance by them and by the said Corporation and otherwise as provided by the said Act.

AND WHEREAS it will require the sum of $9000 to be raised annually by special rate for paying the amount of the said guarantee in the event of the said Corporation being called upon to pay the same.

AND WHEREAS the whole amount of the rateable land and improvements of real property of the Municipality, according to the last revised assessment roll, is $17,563,148.

AND WHEREAS it will require an annual special rate of half a mill on the dollar for paying the amount of such guarantee in the event of the Corporation being called upon to pay the same.

AND WHEREAS the total amount of such guarantee in the event of the Corporation being called upon to pay the same is $9000.

THEREFORE BE IT ENACTED by the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the City of Victoria:

1. There shall be assessed and levied in each year an equal special rate of one-half of one mill on the dollar in addition to all other rates to be levied in each year for the payment of the interest payable under the said guarantee.

2. The amount of such special rate shall be collected in each year from time to time as the said Corporation may be called upon to pay the amount of the said guarantee.

3. The Corporation of the City of Victoria shall guarantee interest at the rate of three per cent. per annum on the bonds of the Victoria & Sidney Railway Company to the amount of $300,000 for a period not exceeding twenty-five years from the date of this By-Law going into effect, under and subject to the conditions prescribed in this By-Law.

4. Any sum or sums of money which may hereafter be paid by the Corporation under this guarantee shall be a first charge upon the undertaking, tolls and property of the said Company, subject only to the said bonds and to such division thereof as between the Government of British Columbia and the Corporation as may be agreed upon by the said Government and the said Corporation, and the acceptance of the benefit of this By-law by the said Company shall be deemed conclusive evidence of the assent of the said Company to all the terms of this By-law.

5. All the moneys obtained from the proceeds of the said bonds in respect of which interest is guaranteed by the said Corporation shall be applied by the said Company in payment of the right of way, construction, equipment of the said railway and expenses incidental thereto.

6. It shall be lawful for the Mayor for the time being of the Corporation of the City of Victoria to endorse, or cause to be endorsed, on the said bonds so proposed to be issued by the said railway company the guarantee in the form and manner prescribed in the memorandum of agreement set forth in the schedule attached to this by-law, and for the clerk of the said Corporation to countersign and seal the said endorsements.

7. This by-law is passed upon the express condition that the said Company shall actually and bona fide commence the work of construction of the said railway on or before the first day of October, 1892, and thereafter prosecute the same with reasonable diligence until the completion of the railway ready for active operation; in any event such date of completion not to be later than the first day of September, 1894, and that a failure to observe such time limit or limits shall render the Company liable to a penalty of One Hundred Dollars ($100) per day for every day beyond such time limits the Company shall be in default in commencing or completing the said road, which said penalty may be recovered by action in any Court of competent jurisdiction at the suit of the Corporation or Government aforesaid.

8. The said Company shall not directly or indirectly employ Chinese upon, about or in connection with the work of construction, and in the event of so doing, or of any of the said Company's employees or any sub-contractor under them so doing the Company shall be liable to a penalty of ten dollars ($10) for each day for each Chinese so employed, to be recovered as specified in Clause 7 of this By-Law.

9. The Company shall not pay any dividends to any shareholder or other person so long as any money remains due or owing to the said Government or the Corporation of the City of Victoria in respect of the said guarantee.

10. The said Railway so to be constructed shall be of standard gauge and to be operated by steam power, and one train per day (Sundays excepted) shall be run over the said line from each end thereof.

11. Plans of the location of so much of the line and terminal works of the said Railway as shall be within the limits of the City of Victoria shall be filed by the Company in the office of the City Clerk, and shall be subject to the approval of the Municipal Council before any work of construction shall be proceeded with within such city limits.

12. All expenses connected with, or incidental to the passage of this By-Law, shall be borne and paid by the said Company to the Corporation of the City of Victoria before this By-Law shall be submitted to the ratepayers.

13. No contract in connection with the construction of the said proposed railway shall be let to any person or persons, firm or corporation, who have not been for over six months prior to the date of calling for tenders for the said contract, resident or residents of the said Province, from the date of receiving tenders for the said work.

14. This By-Law is subject to the agreement made between the Government of the Province of British Columbia, and the Corporation of the City of Victoria, and the Victoria and Sidney Railway Company, in the words and figures set forth in the schedule hereto, which schedule is hereby incorporated herewith, and made part of this By-Law.

15. This By-Law shall, before the final passage thereof, receive the assent of the electors of the municipality, in the manner provided in the Municipal Act, 1892, and shall take effect on the 25th day of July, 1892.

SCHEDULE.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT made and entered into the seventh day of July, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, between the Victoria & Sidney Railway Company hereinafter called the Company, of the first part, the Corporation of the City of Victoria, hereinafter called the Corporation, of the second part, and the Minister of Finance and Agriculture, acting for and on behalf of the Province of British Columbia, hereinafter called the Minister, of the third part.

WHEREAS, the Company are duly incorporated under the provisions of the Victoria and Sidney Railway Act, 1892, and in and by the said act the Company are empowered to borrow money on mortgage or on bond or either and they may in manner prescribed in the act issue bonds not exceeding twenty thousand dollars ($20,000.00) per mile of railway, payable at such time and in such manner and in such place or places in Canada or elsewhere, and bear such rate of interest not exceeding eight per cent. (8 per cent.) per annum, as the Directors may think proper.

AND WHEREAS, by section one (1) of the Victoria and Sidney Railway Subsidy Act of 1892 it is provided that the Government of British Columbia may guarantee the payment of interest until maturity at 2 per cent. per annum on bonds of the Company issued to an amount not exceeding three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000) or its equivalent in sterling money, but subject nevertheless to the conditions and restrictions in the said section contained, and the Company are thereby empowered to charge its undertaking and its tolls and property, real and personal, then existing, or any time thereafter acquired, with the repayment of all moneys to be paid by the Provincial Government in respect of the guarantee thereby authorized, subject to the rights of the bondholders for payment of the principal of the bonds on maturity.

AND WHEREAS, by section two (2) of the last mentioned act it is provided that "in case at any time an agreement is entered into by the company with the Corporation of the City of Victoria for the furnishing by the said Corporation of a guarantee of interest to a further amount of two or more per cent. upon the bonds of the company up to not more than three hundred thousand dollars, the Government may make such arrangements for permitting the said Corporation to share any security taken by them for advances hereunder, and such provisions as to the manner of holding the same as to them seem fit."

AND WHEREAS, the Company have applied to the Government to give such guarantee as aforesaid of interest on the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000,000.00) for a term of twenty-five years (25) years, at the rate of two per cent. (2 per cent) per annum, and agreed in consideration of such guarantee to pledge its undertaking and its said tolls and property as security therefor, which the said Government has agreed to do and accept.

AND WHEREAS, similar application has been made by the Company to the Corporation to guarantee the interest to a further amount of three per cent. (3 per cent.) upon the Company's bonus up to not more than three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) which the Corporation have agreed to do but subject, nevertheless, to ratification by the Ratepayers of the City of Victoria in manner prescribed by section one hundred and eleven (111) of the Municipal Act, 1892.

NOW THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH, that in pursuance of the premises it is hereby agreed by and between the several parties hereto, as follows:—

1. The Company shall commence the construction of their said intended railway on or before the first day of October, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-two, and in default of so doing this agreement shall be void and of no effect.

2. The Company shall within ninety days (90) after the date hereof proceed to issue the whole of the bonds authorized by the said Act of Incorporation, payable in twenty-five years from date, bearing interest at five per cent. per annum, but not to exceed in the whole the sum of three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000,00), such bonds to bear coupons for the half-yearly payments of the interest thereon, which bonds, subject to the provisions of section one (1) and two (2) of the said "Victoria & Sidney Railway Subsidy Act, 1892," shall bear the following endorsement, which endorsement shall be signed by the Minister and the Mayor for the time being of the city of Victoria, and be countersigned and sealed by the Clerk of the Corporation:—"The payment of the interest but not the capital of this bond at the rate of two per cent (2 per cent.) per annum half-yearly on the first days of March and September in each year is undertaken and guaranteed by the Government of the Province of British Columbia for twenty-five years from the first day of September, A. D. 1892, to the first day of September, A. D. 1917, and the further payment of interest but not the capital of this bond at the rate of three per cent. per annum on the days and for the time aforesaid is undertaken and guaranteed by the Corporation of the City of Victoria.

3. The Government and Corporation shall guarantee in manner aforesaid the payment of the interest on the bonds so agreed to be issued as aforesaid in the proportions and at the times aforesaid, and the signature of the "Minister" and of the Mayor, respectively, to the coupons may be affixed by printed, stamped or lithographed fac-simile.

4. The work of construction shall be placed in charge of a competent engineer or engineers selected by the Company, and approved of in writing by the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works on behalf of the Government, and by the Mayor of the City of Victoria on behalf of the Corporation, and the Company may remove such engineer at pleasure and appoint another engineer, subject also to the same approval.

5. The aforesaid bonds, when issued, shall be handed by the Company to the "Minister," who shall have them duly noted in a book to be kept for that purpose, and immediately upon completion of such noting he shall deposit the bonds in one of the chartered banks carrying on business in Victoria, to be approved by the parties hereto.

6. The Company shall negotiate the sale of their said bonds as soon as possible after their issue, having due regard in disposing of them to the best advantage, and may, with the approval of the Minister and Corporation, employ such agent or agents, as they may deem proper.

7. The proceeds of the sale from time to time of the said bonds shall be deposited in one or more chartered banks in the City of Victoria at interest to a special account in the name of the said Railway Company, and shall be drawn out by cheques of the Railway Company, but no such cheques shall be paid by such bank unless attached thereto is a certificate of the engineer of the said Railway for the time being, countersigned by the City Engineer and by the Surveyor-General of the Province specifying the nature and character of the work, supplies, materials or other expenditure for which such cheque is given, and such certificate shall be retained by such bank.

8. All moneys paid by the Government of British Columbia and the Corporation respectively in respect of the aforesaid guarantees shall be considered as a debt due from the Company to the said Government and Corporation respectively, and shall be taken and considered and are hereby made a charge upon the undertaking, and the tolls and property of the Company real and personal now existing or any time hereafter acquired, and the Minister of Finance and Agriculture for the time being shall be held and deemed to be a mortgagee or incumbrancer upon the said property in trust nevertheless as to two-fifths thereof for the Government of British Columbia and as to three-fifths in trust for the Corporation.

9. The company shall upon demand made by the said Minister execute to him a legal mortgage of all the aforesaid property of the Company as security for the repayment of all moneys paid by the said Government and Corporation respectively in respect of the said guarantees, and the costs, charges and expenses they may be respectively put to, or incur, in connection therewith, and the said Minister shall hold the said mortgage and all other securities, if any, of the Company which may come into his hands and the moneys thereby secured in the proportion and upon the trust hereinbefore mentioned and declared, and which said mortgage shall contain all the covenants, powers and conditions usually inserted in mortgages of real and personal property together with the additional power of sale in default of the Company operating their said Railway for a period of three months, whilst any moneys shall be owing by the Company to the Government or Corporation respectively in respect of the said guarantees.

10. The said Company hereby agree to complete their said Railway on or before the first day of September, one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, and thereafter to continually maintain and operate the same so long as any of their said bonds shall remain unredeemed within the said period of twenty-five years.

11. Provided always that Chinese shall not be employed in the construction of the said railway, and provided also that in case a by-law to ratify this agreement on the part of the Corporation shall not be submitted within sixty days from the date hereof for the vote of the ratepayers, under section one hundred and eleven of the said Municipal Act, 1892, or if such by-law shall be submitted and shall be defeated at the polls, or shall not be carried, then, and in such case, this agreement and everything herein contained shall be void and of no effect.

12. The Company shall not pay any dividends to any shareholder, or other person, so long as any moneys remain due or owing to the said Government or the Corporation of the City of Victoria, in respect of the said guarantees.

13. The books of the Company shall be open to the inspection of any person authorized to inspect the same by either the said Government or the Corporation of the City of Victoria, at all times.

14. The Company shall operate and run over the said line of railway when constructed at least one train each way per diem (Sundays excepted) for the whole length of the railway.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the Victoria & Sidney Railway Company and the Corporation of the City of Victoria have hereunto respectively set their corporate seals, and the said Minister has set his hand and seal the day and year first above written.

A FRIEND INDEED.

Victorians owe a debt of gratitude to U.S. Consul Myers for his efforts to furnish the people of the States with a correct idea of the situation here in respect of the smallpox outbreak. The raising of the quarantine by the Sound cities is no doubt due in large measure to Consul Myers' truthful and reassuring reports, in which the people there have full confidence, as coming from the official representative of their Government, and as being founded on his own observation. The Consul's experience and native shrewdness have enabled him from the first to appreciate the real importance of the outbreak, and to realize that there was a greater panic than the circumstances justified. While he is, of course, in favor of every necessary precaution being taken to avert the spread of the disease, he has been unremitting in his endeavors to secure the removal of such restrictions on travel and commerce as traverse the limit of actual necessity. His testimony might well be taken as showing conclusively that the authorities across the Sound need not under present conditions prolong their edict of non-intercourse. It was certainly to the Consul's own interest that intercourse should be re-established as soon as possible, but it is well known to our citizens that his earnest efforts have also been instigated by his hearty goodwill towards Victoria and Victorians. For this he deserves and will no doubt receive the warmest thanks of the community.

A NASTY GAME.

From the correspondence in connection with the Albert Head quarantine station it seems impossible to acquit the Provincial authorities of a desire to create prejudice against those of the city. Many of the statements made in Dr. Wade's report appear to have been quite foundationless, and generally the defects of the station were exaggerated. We must suppose that Dr. Wade was misinformed, for he could surely not have started out with the deliberate intention of misleading the public and creating a false impression as to the state of affairs at Albert Head. But this readiness to accept mere hearsay evidence, without taking any step to test its credibility, indicates that the provincial authorities were only too anxious to find some pretext for fault-finding. To the ordinary mind there is something ghoulish and altogether diabolical about any scheme of making capital, either political or professional, out of a smallpox visitation. The two Davies would have displayed much better taste if they had selected for the exhibition of their hankering after dictatorship some other occasion than the outbreak of a pestilential disease. Of one thing the Premier and his brother may be quite sure—that their attempt to discredit the Mayor and Dr. Milne will recoil upon themselves. Dr. Davie's harshness and want of judgment in enforcing the regulations relating to the removal of patients and suspects are far from commending his regime to the people of the city. Neither need he or the Premier suppose for an instant that the public cannot understand and appreciate the animus from which their wrong-headed proceedings have sprung.

THE OLD MAN ELOQUENT.

Shortly after the opening of the recent electoral campaign Mr. Gladstone spoke to a vast meeting in the Theatre Royal in Glasgow, his audience filling every available foot of space. Whether from the enthusiasm of his hearers or from his own confidence in the prospects of victory, the Grand Old Man was inspired on that occasion to make a memorable speech. The London Daily News describes it as "the most remarkable he has delivered for some time," and the closing passage it declares to be "one of the finest and noblest perorations in the history of eloquence." This passage, thinks the Daily News, "deserves to be ranked with an immortal passage in the greatest speech of Demosthenes, and with the closing sentences of Burke's oration at Bristol." Whether this peroration deserves such high praise may be an open question, but none will deny that it embodies eloquence of a very high degree. The report reads as follows:—

It (the Land Act) has done great good, but great as that good has been, and much as it has relieved the people in districts where they were distressed, it is not to be compared with that silent but all-embracing process which I have endeavored to describe to you, and the gradual and sure generation of these new relations of confidence, kindness, and of positive affection which I feel sure are destined to unite the people of these three countries. (Loud cheers.) Gentlemen, it is a strange contrast which these ideas of union and affection—happily beginning to distinguish the present—a strange contrast which they present to the sad, the profoundly sad history of the past. I have often stated to Scotch audiences how much I rejoice as a Scotchman—(cheers)—that Scotland has hardly had a share in the regulation of these relations, because, as you all well know, until the union of 1707, Scotland had no political relations whatever with Ireland, and until the Reform Act of 1832, Scotland had no popular share in the work of the Government. But if from 1832 I go back 500 years, it is one almost unbroken succession of political storms swollen to tempests, except when these tempests were for a time interrupted by a period of servitude to the stillness of death. (Cheers.) These storms are in strange contrast with the future which the present condition of the Irish mind justifies us in anticipating. It recalls to my mind a beautiful legend of ancient paganism. There were two Lacedæmonian heroes, Castor and Pollux, honored in their life and more honored in their death, when a star was called after them, and upon this star the fond imaginations of the people fastened lovely conceptions. For they thought that when a ship at sea was caught in a storm, when dread began to possess the minds of the crew, and peril thickened around them, and even alarm was giving place to despair, that if then in the high heavens this star appeared, gradually and gently, but effectually, the clouds disappeared, the winds abated, the towering billows fell down to the surface of the deep, calm came where there had been uproar, safety came where there had been danger, and under the beneficent influence of the heavenly body the terrified and despairing crew came safely into port. (Cheers.) Gentlemen, the proposal which the Liberal party made in 1886, which they still cherish in their mind and heart, and which as we trust and believe they are about now to carry forward to a triumphal issue—(cheers)—that proposal has been to Ireland and to the political relations of the two countries what the happy star was believed to be to the seamen of antiquity. It has produced already anticipations of love and goodwill, which are the first fruits of what is to come; it has already changed the whole tone and temper of the relations—I cannot yet say between the laws—but I may say between the people and the inhabitants of these two great islands; it has filled our hearts with hope and joy, and it promises to give us in lieu of the terrible disturbances of other times, unceasing intolerable burdens, and unsolvable problems—it gives to us a promise, as between these countries, of a lively and happy brotherhood; a brotherhood exhibiting strength and harmony at home, and a brotherhood which, as before the world shall instead of being, as it hitherto has been for the most part a scandal, shall be a model and an example, and shall show that we whose political wisdom is for so many purposes recognized by the nations of civilized Europe and America, that we have at length found the means of meeting this worst and oldest of our difficulties, and of substituting for disorder, for misery, for contention, the actual arrival and yet fuller and riper promise of a reign of peace.

Even from reading the colder print, one can understand how grand this peroration would appear when delivered with Mr. Gladstone's ringing voice and earnest manner. It bespeaks not only the sincere advocate but the practised orator, with his wonderful power of bringing apt illustration to his aid. It is surely a marvellous thing to see this octogenarian statesman undertaking a severe political contest and in its course delivering addresses day after day that move the hearts of the multitude and are considered worthy to rank with the highest flights of oratory recorded in history. Whatever his opponents may say of Mr. Gladstone, they cannot successfully deny that he is pre-eminently the "old man eloquent."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Truth culls this gem from the election address of Mr. Maclure, the Unionist ex-member and unsuccessful candidate for one of the Lancashire divisions:

"With pleasure and confidence I have the honor of again appealing for your suffrages. A reference to the address on which you decided in 1886 to return me as your representative shows no unbroken pledge on my part."

In commenting on this extract Mr. Labouchere cautically remarks that most of the Unionist candidates were in the same position as Mr. Maclure, but few of them had the grace to admit it so frankly. It is unusual indeed to find a candidate for Parliament deliberately announcing that he had broken every pledge that he had given in a previous contest.

The News this morning published what professed to be a report of last night's council meeting. The good sense and fairness of the Premier's own particular organ can be judged from its failure to print any of the documents relating to Albert Head quarantine station, or to refer to them except with a sneer. The reason for this was that the said documents dissipated the tissue of charges which the organ's masters had trumped up. This unfairness is characteristic of the News, though the self-proclaimed mission of that journal is to give the public accurate and impartial reports. It is not so very long since the Premier-Attorney-General appeared before the public as an individual who had been hurt in his inmost feelings by unfair reporting. What, then, does he think of the News' tactics?

HOW PROMISES ARE KEPT.

TO THE EDITOR:—I have recollections, remarkably distinct, by the way, of the starting of a morning paper some few months ago in Victoria. In the prospectus of the embryonic journal and public educator, great things were promised. The representation was pushed strongly forward that there was a long felt want in Victoria, and that the newcomer was determined to fill it. That want was stated as "fair and impartial reports of public meetings and proceedings." I ask any fair impartial mind to read the report of the City Council meeting appearing in this (Thursday) morning's News, and pronounce judgment upon its impartiality, so far as its remarks pertaining to health matters are concerned. Why it is an editorial report of the most one-sided type, and were I the proprietor of a paper it would go hard with the reporter who knew so little of his business or position as to hand in such a report (or alleged report). Through every line appears bias, prejudice and one-sidedness so disgustingly manifest that they cannot be overlooked. Can Mr. Davie not make an effort to fulfil his promise "to have at least one paper in Victoria that will report a man fairly and give him justice?" But then I am told that the man of many political offices has resigned that of newspaper manager and director. ENQUIRER.

Captain Kelly Returns.

Captain Kelly who with Captain Grant was arrested at Sitka at the time the Coquitlam was seized arrived in the city last night. How he got here he refuses to say, beyond that he had a long and tedious voyage. He left Sitka on the 10th of July and therefore has no late news regarding the Coquitlam case.

After a Long Rest.

The next attraction at the Victoria theatre will be in the vernacular of the boards, "a corker;" namely, Haverley's enormous minstrels, on August 12th, with a new repertoire, and, it is alleged, with a battery of jokes of this year's manufacture, besides new music and specialties. Manager Cort says this is the prize laugh-raiser of the season and will surely pack the house.

News of the Sealers.

The sealing schooner Beatrice arrived from the north this morning with 570 skins. She was warned by the U. S steamer Yorktown not to enter Behring Sea, and having an Indian crew she had to come home. The schooners Kate with 250 skins, Favorite with 400 skins, and the Henrietta with 150 skins, were spoken. The Favorite is going over to Copper Island to finish up the season.

Only a Fumigation.

The firemen thought they had the drop on a fire on Blanchard street yesterday afternoon, and were ready to immediately extinguish it with chemicals and water. From the roof of a certain residence smoke issued from beneath the shingles in profusion and there was every evidence of a conflagration inside. Investigation, however, proved that the occupants of the house were only giving it a thorough fumigation.

Get Your Thistles Cut.

During the past few days fourteen summonses have been issued for parties who have allowed thistles to grow and flower on their premises. Louis E. Erb was the only one who appeared before the Police Court on a charge of an infraction of the by-law thus provided this morning. He pleaded not guilty and a want of knowledge of the street lines, and was requested to contribute $5 towards the city's funds. A drunk contributed a like amount.

Bush Fires.

A number of bush fires have been blazing in the vicinity of the city during the past few days. Last night one was raging in the vicinity of Cedar Hill and did considerable damage burning fences. Mr. McCrae, who came in from there this afternoon, said five men were working all last night to check it and two were at the same work to-day. It is burning through the brush on the Tolmie farm, but it is well under control now.

Sealers' Meeting.

A meeting of the Sealers' Association was being held in Secretary Hall's office late this afternoon. It is understood that the question of bonds for there. release of the steamer Coquitlam was being considered. There seems to be a misunderstanding about the matter. The owners of the steamer think the charterers will put up the bonds while the charterers think the owners will do so.

FROM THE PEACE RIVER.

Very Little Mining Being Done—Indians Do Well Trapping and Hunting.

H. F. Davis, the well known fur dealer, arrived down from the Peace River country last night after spending the winter in that northern region, and is registered at the Oriental Hotel. He came down by way of Quenelle and the Cariboo road, bringing his furs by pack train to the former place.

The past winter began a month earlier than usual and the river did not break up till the 10th of May, when there was still two feet of snow in the woods. Since the opening of the spring, however, the weather has been fine and the crops put in by the few settlers in the Peace River basin were looking well when Mr. Davis left.

Hunting and trapping are the principal industries of the place, and are carried on chiefly by the Indians, who, owing to a growing pride among themselves, and a consequent desire to dress and live well, secure and sell more furs to the buyers and traders carrying on business in the district than heretofore.

A few miners are working at the several creeks, but are not making big fortunes, as they have only the most primitive means of working ground that is not over rich, and the cost of living is high, owing to the difficulties of transportation. The short seasons, and the next to impossibility of bringing in machinery, does not permit of great work being done, and ground which might be worked to advantage by modern mining apparatus, will not pay with the pan and rocker.

Mr. Davis travelled faster than his furs, which will not reach the city for a few days. They comprise bear, beaver, martin, fisher, wolverine, otter, mink, etc.

Vancouver Officials Do as the Court Orders and Lift the Quarantine.

The Puget Sound Board of Health Refuses to Act as the Cities Did.

The cities and towns around Victoria, with the exception of Port Townsend, have lifted the quarantine against Victoria. Vancouver, of course, had to do so after the orders issued by Justices Crease and Walkem. The Sound cities' action will, it is feared, be unworkable, as the Puget Sound Board of Health, which has control over the whole Sound, refuses to sanction the action of the cities. It is expected that all boats will be running as usual in a few days, the disease now being completely under control.

THE FAKIR OF INDIA.

Regarded as an Unpleasant Person by Those Who Meet Him.

New York Sun.

The Indian newspapers are complaining of fakirs, who, they say, are getting to be particularly objectionable as railroad passengers. These holy men are usually very dirty, as they cannot spare time from their religious devotions and incessant begging to attend to their toilet. The fakir is addicted to the practice of rolling himself in filth and smearing himself with disgusting substances in order to propitiate the deity he serves. It is hard to decide what to do with these objectionable persons when they apply for tickets on the cars. The ticket agents fear that if they refuse to let the fakirs ride, it might raise a religious disturbance.

It is estimated that 3,000,000 of these mendicant priests are in the Indian peninsula. Most of them are regarded by the European population as mere humbugs, who are too lazy to work for a living.

MILLIONAIRE MANIAC.

A Lifetime of Business Ends in Unsettlement of Reason.

A curious story comes from London of a man who founded a great and successful drygoods house, who became a millionaire in wealth and who now wanders through his own warehouse shabby, comfortless and anxious, thinking he is a mere employee and that he may be at any moment discharged. Few of the customers know him, but he is down daily at the opening of the place and he stays till it closes at night. He is paid $7.50 a week, which he hoards like a miser lest he should be sent to the poorhouse or be buried in the potter's field. Fifty years ago the world lay before this man fresh, untrodden and full of promise, and he determined to make a fortune. He was young, strong and clear-headed and he succeeded. In middle life he had achieved his purpose. He associated his sons with him in the business and might have retired but for his desire to make his house the first in that line of trade. To the accomplishment of this object he resolved to devote his energies for five years more. One day he had a fit in his counting-house and was carried to his West End mansion in the city. When he recovered his mind was gone. He had an insane dread of poverty, and his sons, to humor his whim, where obliged to employ him and pay the paltry weekly wages which he carefully saves.

There surely can be no sadder fate to contemplate than that of a man who has failed, as it were, through his success, who, struggling along for golden fruit, finds at last only the apples of Sodom, and who, straining every nerve for the supposed means of happiness, is at length oppressed with an overwhelming sense of unrelievable and perpetual misery. The Washington Post thinks this story from London has a moral for all our energetic, ambitious and pushing business men in all departments. In affairs, as well as in dissipation, there is a pace that kills. Worst of all results is a living body with a dead mind. The picture of a millionaire in fact, though a pauper in reality, is fitted to be a saddening and impressive object lesson.

BIRTHPLACE OF CHATTERTON.

Misfortunes and Achievements of the Boy Poet—His Life in the City of Bristol.

His Fame Will Endure After the Names of Bristol's Millions are Forgotten.

BRISTOL, England, July 11.—The name, the birth spot and the shrine of Chatterton are all that will ordinarily impel the traveler to turn aside from pleasanter English sights and scenes to loiter in the matter of fact old city of Bristol.

Above its hard, dank streets, its grimy smokestacks and harbor spars, at the whim of the Severn tides overtopping its tallest warehouses or again disappearing below its mossy, crumbling quays, the one name, more sad and clear and luminous than all other acts or facts in its history, seems to conjure all else of civic, commercial, ecclesiastic or literary interest in the ancient seaport's moldy past.

And what a marvelous proof is here of the overshadowing quality of literary fame. It seems to me to furnish one of the most impressive illustrations known to men.

Chatterton died Aug. 24, 1770, before he was eighteen years of age. Yet this stripling, starved in Bristol and hounded to death by indifference and desperation in London, in what had been done by his pen from the time he was ten years old to the morning they found him dead in the London garret and pitched his poor body into the Shoe Lane workhouse potter's field, cut higher and deeper niches in the adamantine walls of fame than all other of the millions who have lived and died in Bristol. More has been felt, said and written about this one delicate lad, his misfortunes and achievements, than altogether has ever been produced or compiled by or concerning Bristol or Bristol folk.

Something like the canny and almost brutal suspicion and watchfulness of Chatterton's attorney master, of infamous memory, John Lambert, has always pervaded the town in its attitude to the memory of Chatterton and to those strangers who come to Bristol with sad and tender thoughts of the boy poet. From the first vindictive efforts to uphold the currish Walpole's defamation of the dead boy in his own defense to almost the latest Bristol publications on Chatterton, the effort has been ceaseless to befoul his character and disparage his achievements.

Ecclesiastical consistories, animated by inconceivable venom, hunted the very memory of the lad to perditionary finality, so far as their little power could go, fighting bitterly to the last the erection of a monument to his name in the churchyard of Redcliffe church, until nearly 100 years had elapsed from the time of the poet's death before this paltry requital was forced upon Bristol, while 10,000 travelers every year come here, and especially to the beautiful church of St. Mary of Redcliffe, because of Chatterton's association with the latter, to one who comes to see Bristol or Redcliffe on their own account; and still the hard old civic and ecclesiastic heads are blind to the world's judgment of themselves and Chatterton.

Mournfully ludicrous does this feeling display itself to strangers, even to this day. If you are in charge of guide or friend he will insist on your visiting the potteries, the downs, the docks, the Avon bridge, the place where Sir Humphrey Davy had charge of the pneumatic institution in Dowry square; the council house, rich in ancient parchment lore, unique old charters and somber pictures by Kneller and Vandyck; the museum and a peep at the famous miniature likeness on ivory of Oliver Cromwell; the ancient stone images of Brennus and Belinus, Bristol's tutelar deities, removed from an ancient church to their present place in the old city gateway arch in the Fourteenth century; to that wonderful old Norman archway in the gateway leading into lower College Green, and to scores more places and objects of modern and antiquarian interest. But he will never have a word or a moment to devote to your longings regarding the personality of and objects associative with Chatterton.

Most curious of all was the conduct of the verger of the Redcliffe church, which owes its chief notoriety and its richest offerings to its hateful hostility to Chatterton, his trifling association with its old muniment room and the miserly Chatterton cenotaph within its churchyard close. He labored three mortal hours to impress the wonders of Redcliffe church upon me. Inconceivable eloquence flowed from his fervent lips. I would occasionally pleasantly intimate that I believed it all, was willing to credit more, but most wished to visit the old muniment room, whereupon the storms of descriptive eloquence would break forth anew.

Something in the hushed quiet of the place, the hopelessness of ever coming to see what I longed for most, and the sustained notes of his chant about the worthies whose dust was beneath us and their wondrous deeds and gifts to St. Mary's, furnished an uncontrollable somnolence. I finally sank into a pew in an attitude of deferential interest, bulged my eyes to the limit of human endurance, and with this wonderful human talking machine in regular pulsations growing to giant's size and diminishing to the stature of a pygmy declaiming before me, refreshing slumber came.

I awoke with a start as the verger shook me and upbraided me with the charge that he could not interest me in this "prince of English churches." I pressed a half crown upon him and again timorously hinted something about "the Chatterton muniment room." As if in a frenzy of despair at the perversity of all humankind, he flung me a key, motioned tragically toward the inner stairway leading to above the north porch, covered his heated face with his hands and actually burst into tears.

Poor old man! thought I, as I groped my way over brasses, beneath effigies and in and through gleaming chantries to the winding stone stairway; on his weak and burdened shoulders also rests the same old mountain of pretense and lie of a century's belittlement of that one little lad who alone has given them all something of the radiated effulgence of his deathless name.

But at last I stood alone within what seems to me to be the most tenderly interesting relic in Bristol. It is entered through two massive narrow doors from the stairway. The room is hexagonal in form, low, perhaps twenty-five feet in diameter, and lighted by forty narrow, unglazed windows. The stone floor rests on the groined arches of the exquisite porch below and huge beams of well preserved oak form and support the ceiling.

It did not seem a dismal spot to me. On the contrary, one could imagine a no more reposeful and retired place for his own day dreams or those of such a genius as Chatterton. Pleasantly came the sounds of the street through the open windows; sweeter still were now and then wafted the organ notes and voices of the singers engaged below in vesper service. The open, rotting and discarded muniment coffers, or "cofres," are still here. No one knows their age. It must be very great. But these veritable ancient chests were the ones whose contents, first largely pilfered and scattered by the parish authorities themselves, furnished Chatterton with the impulse and means of attracting public attention to his own compositions, to appear in the guise of antique manuscripts from the pen of the fictitious monk Rowley, the whole the creation of his own fertile brain.

One must confess to a strange sense of nearness to this poor ambitious boy when standing among these empty old coffers. The picture of his pale, eager face half hidden among the musty parchments flashes upon one almost as if with certain recognition. Here he came times without number and delved and toiled and dreamed. As I stood there, held and fascinated by the flood of associations of the place, a vagrant bird of gray plumage flew into one of the narrow splayed windows, wheeled round and round beneath the oaken ceiling, and suddenly alighted upon one of the rotten old boxes. Turning its head to the right and left and settling its plumage, it pecked a few times upon the coffer with a sharp, echoing sound. As suddenly it rose, perched upon one of the oaken braces, uttered a few notes of saddening melody, and in an instant, like a dart of light piercing the outer light, had swept away—fitting type of him who had come for that brief time, pecked for a moment at the dark, dead age behind him and sung and flashed into the outer light of immortality.

There are few other Chatterton memorials in Bristol. The Colston hospital, or school, where he had secured nomination as a charity scholar, was removed to the old episcopal palace at Stapleton over a quarter of a century ago. The building in which were located the offices of John Lambert, attorney, to whom Chatterton was articled as apprentice, is still standing in Corn street. The place where the boy poet was born, in Pile street near its conjunction with Thomas street, is immediately opposite the north side of Redcliffe church. It is a dreary, mildewed spot today, though the old buildings are supplanted by others. A free school is still conducted at the place by a weazened spinster. The yard is narrow, damp and dank; the structure is damp, and daak and narrow; and the little tots whom I saw leaving the place are ragged, pinched and squalid.

Between this place and the church opposite, upon the hill, within the churchyard, though not within "consecrated" ground—for though churches sing the boy poet's hymns and this church received the Colston boy into its saving embrace through confirmation, ecclesiastic intolerance insists upon his damnation on the ground that he died by his own hand and an "infidel"—stands the monument to his memory. Redcliffe church, more dishonor to it, forbade its erection within the edifice, where lie in pompous state the remains of libertines and traders in their fellow men.

After the bitterest of struggles on the part of the poet's friends this cenotaph was finally put in place outside the church, between the tower and the muniment room, so intimately associated with his youthful dreams and struggles. But repairs upon the north porch soon gave an excuse for its removal, for it was discovered that the monument impinged on "consecrated" ground. Then it was taken to pieces and bundled away.

After years of further struggles with bigoted consistories it was finally re-erected where it now stands, near the northeast entrance, just within the churchyard green. But even then these fine folk of the cloth turned the face of the statue surmounting the cenotaph away from Redcliffe church. And that was well. Chatterton, with his back to Redcliffe church, his tiny face half in smiles, gazing affectionately down upon his birthplace across the way, is fitting enough satire, while stone may last, upon the intolerance and vindictiveness thus so aptly recalled and emphasized.

The figure is represented in the habiliments of a Colston schoolboy—a muffin cap with band and ball, a coat with long plaited skirt, a leathern belt, corduroy kneebreeches and rough ribbed stockings. The left hand holds an open scroll, upon which is written, "Ælla, a Tragedy." In one of the monument's niches is a torn or severed scroll, with the legend, "The Poems of Rowlie." While the chief panel bears the words from the poet's own pen, written half in jest, half in earnest, but incomparable in their aptitude: "To the memory of Thomas Chatterton. Reader, judge not, if thou art a Christian. Believe that he shall be judged by a superior Power. To that Power alone is he now answerable."

As I stood regarding the cenotaph the afternoon sun swept around the lofty spire of Redcliffe church. Its rays filtered between the slender spires and pinnacles at its base, and fell upon the cenotaph, lighting it up wondrously. Then a huge cloud, flapping its sable wings up from the Bristol channel, darkened the scene and the grimy city for a moment. It was for a moment only; for the sun burst through again and held its place gloriously. So, I thought, as I turned away, will it be with the name and fame of this little lad to whom the godly of Bristol have been so pitilessly ungenerous.

If something like a resentfulness and heartache did not come at every turn when seeking for kindly Chatterton shrines, one would be deeply charmed and interested in the antiquarian, historic and literary reminiscences of this fine old Bristol town.

Cabot, who should be equally honored with Columbus, sailed on his voyage of American discovery from this port. The Great Western, the first steam craft to successfully demonstrate the practicability of steam navigation between the two continents, was built and manned at Bristol. The great Burke, "friend of America," represented the city in parliament, and the unhappy ex-Empress Eugenie was once a schoolgirl here.

I have come upon names and local reminiscences of nearly sixty really noted men and women of letters who were born in or for a time lived at Bristol. Defoe frequented its Red Lion and Selkirk for a time lived in St. Stephen's parish. Hugh Conway was born and Canon Kingsley educated here. Hallam came out of its grammar school and Hume was a Bristol merchant's clerk. The author of "Butler's Analogy" was bishop of Bristol; Hannah More, though living most of her life at Barleywood, a few miles distant, was born in and died at Bristol: the Porter sisters, Mary Robinson and Amelia B. Edwards, were all Bristol women, while a charming book could be alone written on the early careers of Southey and Coleridge, both begun in Utopian dreams of Pantisocracy in this grimy yet rich and mellow old west of England seaport town.

Pacific Cable.

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 27.—The presiding officer of the Senate laid before that body to-day a message from the President of the United States, with accompanying papers, relative to the practicability of laying a telegraph cable between California and the Hawaiian Islands. Secretary Tracy, of the Navy Department, in a letter states that the result of the survey shows that a practicable route can be easily selected. The report of the hydrographic office of the bureau of navigation states that the surveys show that the laying of the cable on almost any line between California and the Hawaiian Islands is practicable. A line about 300 miles wide was developed between California and Hawaii, and the results, as shown in the report, seem to indicate the most favorable routes to be a "rhumb" line between Monterey Bay, California, and Honolulu.

"I have been treated by doctors, who had long lists of so-called cured patients, but they could not reach my case, and hope had been murdered in me by fair promises, but on first application of your magical appliance, hope and confidence came flocking in stronger than the combined powers of the four winds. I knew then that you would cure me, and now that I am a man and well again, I cannot thank you sufficiently for the cure. So again I say, use my name as reference whenever you wish. You nor any one else cannot use words too strong to express my sentiments in favor of so wonderful a treatment as that given by you."

The farmers now in Winnipeg attending the exhibition state that the crops have made marvelous progress since the first of the month. The harvest will be as early as usual and the yield as large as ever before.

The warm weather lately has had a beneficial effect on the Ontario crops, and there is now the promise of an abundant harvest. Owing to the previous wet weather and the present heat, some grain may be shrunken.

During a storm a saw and shingle mill at Castleton, occupied by D. Ellis, and a barn with its contents owned by Peter Bound, were struck by lightning. Lightning wrecked D. McCarth's house, at Norwood, and stunned two people. Two barns near that place were also struck and burned.

Fully 25,000 people have congregated at Ste. Anne de Beaupre to witness the ceremonies anent the removal of the relics of Ste. Anne from the old to the new cathedral, and also to be present at the celebration of Ste. Anne. Many lame and sick are amongst the people, who expect miraculous cures.

A deputation of Ontario manufacturers and farmers waited upon Sir Oliver Mowat, and intimated to him the advisability of turning his proposed Central Prison binding twine industry into an establishment for the manufacture of twine and farm implements, which they are anxious to establish to some extent on a co operative plan. Sir Oliver promised the careful consideration of all the proposals made.

At the inquest on the body of Mrs. Doran, the inmate of Deer Park sanitarium who was found in a pond in North Toronto on Sunday, the fact was revealed that people could have their friends, of unsound mind, incarcerated in the institution mentioned without the formality of procuring certificates from at least two uninterested physicians, as is prescribed by law, and further, that lunatics could be confined in it upon their own signature, which was the case with Mrs. Doran.

The Winnipeg exhibition has been an unqualified success, the weather being perfect and the attendance large. There were over 6000 people on the grounds Wednesday. The prizes were awarded, and the remainder of the week will be devoted to the sports and the seeing of the exhibits by the spectators. The Northwest Territories took a fair share of the prizes in grain and grasses. The gardeners around the city took most of the prizes for roots and vegetables, and the prizes are generally well distributed throughout the province. In the foot races O. E. Woods of Winnipeg won the 100-yard race in 10 1-5 seconds, Smith of Vancouver being away behind. The quarter mile was won by Lockhart of Winnipeg in 55 seconds, Smith of Vancouver being again behind. Simpson of Winnipeg won the mile contest.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, of Toronto, who was leader of the Third party formed some yearsago, says the result of the prohibition plebiscite in Manitoba only confirms what careful observers knew before that in most of the provinces the people are overwhelmingly in favor of prohibition. Being asked what he supposed would be the next step in Manitoba, Dr. Sutherland replied: "If the Government were sincere in sending the question to the people, the next step should be to submit prohibition in the House as part of the Government programme. If appropriate legislation does not follow the plebiscite, it will prove that the Greenway Government were not in earnest, and only submitted the question as a means of catching the temperance vote. Should action be ignored or postponed, however, it will convince the temperance people if anything will that a straight prohibition party is the only solution of the liquor question."

British Political Matters.

LONDON, July 26.—An oculist visited Mr. Gladstone to-day, and after an examination of his eye told him that he had regained so much of its sight that he might use it briefly for reading. Mr. Gladstone's general health is good. He has now made arrangements to come to this city to-morrow, and invited Sir William Vernon Harcourt, John Morley, Arnold Morley and five other members of the Liberal party to take dinner with him in the evening.

The circulars issued by Lord Salisbury to the members of the House of Lords, and by Mr. Balfour to the members of the House of Commons prior to the opening of the session, have been dispensed with.

This Smallpox Went From Vancouver.

GRETNA, Man., July 27.—This city is now quarantined, and there are six cases of smallpox, two of them being Chinese. The first known case was a Miss Calder, who had been in the habit of visiting the Chinese quarter to do missionary work. After the discovery of this case, Dr. Donovan began to investigate the cause, and found that this girl had been visiting Chinese, and he at once examined the Chinese quarter and found two cases of smallpox. He elicited the information that the disease had been amongst them for several weeks. Some had recovered and gone south to Chicago, while others were convalescent. He further ascertained from them that the disease was brought by Chinamen who came by the Empresses of Japan and India. These Chinamen came direct from Vancouver to Gretna.

LONDON, July 27.—Right Hon. Robt. Lowe, Viscount Sherbrooke, is dead. He was born in 1811 at Hingham, Worcestershire, where his father was rector. He went to Australia and was elected to the Parliament of New South Wales. In 1851 he returned to England, and four years later was appointed Vice-President of the Board of Trade, and Vice-President of the Education Board. In 1859 he entered the British Parliament as member for Kidderminster, then represented Calne, and finally the University of London. In 1868 he became Chancellor of the Exchequer in Mr. Gladstone's administration, and a member of the Council on Education. He resigned the Chancellorship in 1873 and took charge of the Home Office. In 1874 he went out of office with his party, and in 1880, when the Liberals returned to office, was raised to the peerage.

ABOUT QUARANTINE.

Words of a Great Medical Authority Which Some People Should Heed.

From the London Lancet, April 2.]

In his presidential address to the British Guiana branch of the British Medical Association, Dr. Robert Grieve, well known in England in connection with the office he formerly held under the Metropolitan Asylums Board, dealt with the question of quarantine, and the burden of his paper was to show grounds why he differed from our English views in so far as their application to his colony is concerned. For reasons which we will refer to we see no ground for dissenting from him on this point. But there are one or two passages in the address which need some comment. He says that after careful search he has failed to discover what the quarantine is to which so much objection is taken by English writers, and he adds: "Isolation and disinfection, as ordinary sanitary precautions, are admissible; but call them by the name of quarantine and they thereupon change their character and become something to be reprobated by all laying claim to being fully civilized." If, as a matter of fact, Dr. Grieve, who says he has followed the discussions on this subject with close attention, does not understand the elementary difference between that which in England goes by the name of "medical inspection," which aims at isolation and disinfection, and that which constitutes quarantine as understood and practised abroad, it may be that others also do not clearly perceive the distinction. And since at this moment the subject is matter of discussion between the principal governments of Europe, it may be well to explain that the essential difference lies in the fact that under the English system only those who are found to be actually suffering from the disease to be controlled, or who are so ailing that they are suspected to be so suffering, can be detained; whereas the remainder of the crews and passengers are allowed to travel to their destinations subject to notice of their impending arrival being given to the authorities at those destinations. In short the healthy are not detained. Under the quarantine system the healthy are detained, as well as the sick and the truly suspect, and the system, as hereto practised in most parts of Europe and in the Red Sea, has been carried out in such a way as to expose the healthy to a risk of contracting the disease which it is proposed to check far beyond any which they had run before; the consequence being that the detention has to be renewed again and again until a sufficient period has elapsed since the last of the hitherto healthy who will sicken has succumbed to the disease.

Making Campaign Roosters.

D. W. Rising, the box manufacturer, has taken the contract to make the campaign roosters invented by Dr. Bragg. The invention is one which will especially appeal to the instincts of children and that numerous class of amiable individuals who must express their happiness or triumph by inarticulate sound.

In making the campaign bird, a strip of pasteboard is covered with red, white and blue paper. It is then placed in a stamp, and with one blow the outline of the toy is struck in the pasteboard. Then the fowl goes to another hand, who has a knife shaped to conform with the stamped outline, and a single stroke cuts the pasteboard into proper shape. There are reverse dies and knives, so that the two sides of the bird are cut out to match. These are pasted together, then a slight circular motion of a sharp knife provides an orifice in which a little tin horn is placed, and the crowing bird is done.

The head and breast of the fowl are red, the body is white, and the tail is blue. On the white stripe is placed the picture of Harrison and Reid or Cleveland and Stevenson, as the fancy of the purchaser may demand. About 3000 of these joy producing and hilarious crowers are made in a day, which means that noisy happiness is dispersed over a wide area. Mr. Rising already has a number of large orders, and is making arrangements to place a great many of the birds all over the country. —North Adams, Mass., News.

A MAN-EATING LEOPARD.

He Destroyed 154 Persons Before He Was Brought Down.

The Calcutta Englishman contains a blood-curdling account of the doings of a man-eating leopard lately shot in the Rajshahi district, in Bengal. The monster had destroyed 154 persons before he was brought down. His appetite for flesh, his ferocity, his cunning and his audacity were unexampled in the leopard tribe, and they would have done credit to a tiger. He depopulated whole villages, for the mere terror of his name sent the inhabitants flying as soon as he had seized a solitary victim in their midst.

For miles around the people never ventured to leave their homes after nightfall until they heard he was dead, but this was no great hindrance to him. He would seize them from the verandas when they were smoking the evening pipe, and sometimes he penetrated the very houses in the dead of night and carried away children—often without giving the slightest alarm to the other inmates.

As a rule, he killed only one person at a time, but sometimes he killed two, and, on one occasion, he killed three in one day. Children and old women were his favorite food. Among his victims there were but six men. He was impelled by sheer hankering for human flesh, for he never touched cattle.

The villagers began to think the scourge was a demon incarnate, and it was impossible to organize them for the pursuit. At length some 20 elephants were brought together for an expedition, and a flying column of British planters set forth in quest of the destroyer. They searched for some time in vain, until an old man, whose wife had been eaten, came to report that their quarry had taken refuge in a tamarind tree.

It was as he had stated, only the man-eater had by this time hidden himself in the jungle at the foot of the tree, and for the moment could not be found. The place was surrounded and the elephants advanced in close order to trample the fugitive out of his hidden place. This manœuvre succeeded after frequent repetition; the beast was driven out of cover and at once riddled with balls. He will become a legend in the district and perhaps a deity.

Manned by a Deaf Mute Crew.

There is a little two-masted schooner lying at anchor in the stream which, besides being a funny looking craft, is manned by a strange crew. The vessel is the Mary and Belle of Newport, R.I., having arrived from Newport with a cargo of fish oil. The schooner has a square stern and a very blunt bow and only one topmast. When a Mercury reporter went alongside he asked a man on deck, whom he took to be the mate, where the vessel was from. The man motioned that he could not hear or talk and went below. An elderly man poked his head through the companionway and the reporter repeated his question. This man also shook his head, and then the first man appeared with a piece of paper on which was written, in a very good hand, "What you want?"

The reporter wrote out his query and the answer was written.

Then the reporter learned that both captain and crew were deaf and dumb, and that they work the little vessel and make a living out of her. Her captain is George Bennett, and he doesn't have to shout at his crew. No speaking trumpets are necessary aboard this craft.—New Bedford Mercury.

How to Clean Paint.

How to Succeed in Politics.

Always remember that your present opponent may some day be on your side. Therefore do all your vituperating "by word of mouth" and never on paper. Before undertaking an argument always make the strongest argument you possibly can on the other side—in your mind—and be prepared to meet it. Remember that the current of opinion is nearly always determined by a very few men, possibly not more than a dozen in each precinct or township. Get them and you have got the community. But if you are smart enough to pick the right men you are too smart to need this advice.

How to Make a Turnip Hanging Basket.

Scrape the inside out of a large turnip, leaving a thick wall all around. Fill the cavity with earth and plant in it some climbing vine. Hang the turnip up with slender cords and in a short time the vines will twine around the strings and the turnip sprouts that will grow out below will turn upward and curl gracefully around the base.

How the Signature of a Cross Came Into Use.

The mark which persons who are unable to write are required to make instead of their signature is in the form of a cross, and this practice, having formerly been allowed by kings and nobles, is constantly mentioned as an instance of the deplorable ignorance of ancient times. This signature is not, however, invariably a proof of ignorance. Anciently the use of the mark was not confined to illiterate persons, for among the Saxons the mark of the cross, as an attestation of the good faith of the persons signing, was required to be attached to the signature of those who could write as well as to stand in the place of the signature of those who could not do so.

How to Prevent Ink from Injuring Steel Pens.

Throw bits of nails or small pieces of unrusted iron into the inkstand. The corrosive action of any acid contained in the ink will expend itself on the iron and not on the pen. After a steel pen has been used for a time in plain ink a rusty substance is formed. This is prevented by the presence of iron in the ink.

How the Word Hocus-Pocus Originated.

At the dawn of the Reformation the papistical sacrament was called by the vulgar, Jack-in-the-box, Worm's meat and Hocus-pocus. The latter epithet had its origin from the manner in which the priest mumbled the words, Hoc est Corpus ("This is the body").

How to Live to a Good Old Age.

By being particularly careful of your health during the years that are a multiple of 7, such as 28, 35, 42, etc. The great climacterical year is 63. If one passes that safely he is inclined to rally in bodily power and attain extreme old age. This physiological cause has been noted since the days of Pythagoras.

How the Term "Spoony" Originated.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

An alderman with a half-deprecating smile told me the other day that I was giving the town council plenty to do. "It it very well," said he, "to suggest this or that improvement, but how can we accomplish it in our limited time and still more limited means." Yet I venture to assert that the citizens generally will support the corporation in any real improvement, any lasting benefit, for the comfort and convenience of the city. Take, for instance, the naming of the streets. One-half of the residents of Victoria are not aware of the names of many of our streets, and the perplexing method of calling one portion of the street by one name and the remainder by another, is worthy of medieval times. A neat sign placed at the corners of our streets would materially aid visitors and residents in finding their way about town.

Another thing, when will the corporation undertake the re-numbering of the houses? Although it was comparatively but a few years back that this was attempted, yet to an outsider it would appear as if it was done away back in the dark ages. The city has grown, Mr. Mayor, new buildings have been erected, old buildings have been removed, and progress as well as order calls for the re-numbering again of our houses. Postmen, messenger boys and collectors will bless the memory of that alderman who moves and obtains these needful improvements.

When is Arbor Day observed in Victoria? Has that useful institution passed into oblivion? In Vancouver and New Westminster the citizens usually observe it, and many utilize the occasion to plant trees in the streets opposite their own houses. It is a most useful as well as artistic practice, giving the city a beautiful appearance to a visitor, and providing a most pleasant shade in our hot and dusty streets. In the Terminal City the corporation furnished trees to any citizens on Arbor Day who wished to plant them, and numbers availed themselves of the privilege. I do not, however, think it advisable to plant trees on our business streets.

I saw a letter yesterday from a married lady in Seattle whose husband had been smitten down with the smallpox at the beginning of the outbreak, and who was removed to Albert Head. Fearful of being detained in quarantine she had fled to the protection of the "Stars and Stripes." With wifely love and womanly constancy she had written anxiously enquiring for the whereabouts and well-being of her husband. Every line of the letter betrayed loving anxiety concerning her husband, her chief sorrow being that she was entirely ignorant concerning him. So far so good. The amusing part of the matter lies in the fact that the said lady is a fortune teller, to whom crowds of gullible young men and sentimental maidens used to gather to have their fortunes told. The said magician could read the stars, mutter incantations, understand palmistry, and peep into the veiled future at the inspiration of a golden coin or silver dollar, but the fates forbade her telling her own fortune. "Mine own vineyard have I not kept." The public generally, however, will more greatly sympathise in the great astrologer's wifely devotion than in her propbetical utterances.
